Morning Doug:

Got the Asbestos Report today, we are clear to demolition. I have to write my formal report which will not happen until Tuesday at least, but we are clear to move forward. No asbestos detected.

The sample report not back yet, there was a billing situation on the company's end, we had to set up an account, so we are re-sending with our account numbers now.

There is no other well to their knowledge. I have been on another project and will follow-up on Monday,

K

Subject: House

Good Morning, I met with the septic guy this morning, He is going to get the paperwork back to me sometime today and schedule the septic to be pumped and filled, Waiting to here back from the Well Guy talked with Heath Department last week the hand dug well will have to be abandoned the same as a typical well. Need to find out is there is another well on property or is it just the one, also the water from Thurston will need to find out from landowner if they want the tap to remain or be abandoned also because if water department abandoned the water tap it will cost around $3,000 to tap back into. Also, the electric to the garage is fed from the house, so when we tear down the house there will be no electric to garage, hopefully landowner is aware of this. Do we know for sure what to do with the gas? Do we tell them to abandon gas also.
